Handbook Substantive Changes Record
Procedures for Making Changes to the GLA Handbook
(Revised April 2021)

These procedures apply to all sections of the GLA Handbook. Changes to the Constitution and Bylaws will be managed primarily by the Constitution and Bylaws Committee and communicated with the Handbook Committee.

At their discretion, the Handbook Committee can make minor grammar, punctuation, and formatting changes to the Handbook and update appendices with referenced information (such as the Past Officers section). Otherwise, changes must be proposed to and voted on by the Executive Board either in-person or virtually. The following are general procedures for proposing a change or addition to the Handbook to be addressed at Executive Board meetings:

1. The division/committee/interest group chair or another person who requests a change sends the Handbook Chair an e-mail with the change they want with the exact wording and where it should go in the Handbook. The Chair and the requester discuss the proposal as needed, and the Chair addresses questions that may arise about what is currently in the Handbook. Items must be in writing to be raised for a vote.

2. The Handbook Chair collects these items for the next Executive Board meeting and sends them to the Secretary for the agenda.

3. The Handbook Chair introduces proposals at the Executive Board meeting, where they are discussed and voted on during New Business.

4. After each committee/group speaks about their proposal, the proposal comes up for a vote. If approved, the Chair will add it to the Handbook. If changes to the requester’s wording are voted on and approved during the meeting, the requester will send the updated phrasing to the Handbook Chair.

5. After the current business is completed at the Executive Board meeting, the Handbook Chair asks if there are any questions about the Handbook to be addressed. If the requests are minor and can be handled at that time (i.e., they are basic enough that they do not need to be written up ahead of time), they can be voted on. The Chair will also remind people to email them any changes/additions requests for the next meeting.

6. The Chair updates the Handbook with the approved changes then sends it to the GLA Webmaster to be uploaded to the website. Primarily, voting for changes to the Handbook will be handled at the Executive Board meeting. Should a change or addition need to be made before the next Executive Board meeting, the Executive Board can vote on it via e-mail.

7. The Chair sends the previous version of the Handbook to the GLA Records Chair for the GLA Archives.

Nominations & Elections

Elections for the Officers of the Association as well as officers of the Divisions, the Interest Group Council, and the Interest Groups are held annually in the fall of the year. Historically elections were held during business meetings or through a mailed ballot. Currently elections are held electronically. All nominees should be distributed to the appropriate membership groups at least 30 days prior to the election. Members are provided a 20 day election window during which members may cast their ballots. All elections are decided by a plurality of votes cast.

As specified in Article II of the GLA Bylaws, ballots for the Officers of the Association are made available to the members by September 1 each year. Elections for Division officers and officers of the Interest Group Council are held concurrently with the Officers of the Association. All Divisions should provide a slate of nominees to the Nominations and Elections Committee by July 1st each year.

Elections of the officers of the Interest Groups will be coordinated by the Vice Chair of the Interest Group Council. Interest Group elections will typically be held in November. The Vice Chair of the Interest Group Council will work with the Interest Groups to develop the slate of nominees for the Interest Group officers.

The Chair of the Nominations and Elections Committee and the Vice Chair of the Interest Group Council will forward the names of all nominees to the GLA Administrative Services Liaison who will communicate the nominees to the Administrative Services Company. The Administrative Services Company will be responsible for distributing and counting the ballots.

All officers elected during the annual elections in the fall will begin their term of office on January 1st of the following year.

Advocacy Division

The Advocacy Division first appeared as a division of the Georgia Library Association in 1965/1967 under the name of the Georgia Library Trustee Association. Prior to that time the Division had been known under several titles. (See officer listing in Appendix 3) In 1984, the name was changed to the Georgia Library Trustees and Friends Association. In 1999, the name was changed again to the Georgia Library Trustees, Friends and Advocates Association. A strategic plan developed by the Georgia Library Association in 2021 called for more emphasis on advocacy and recommended transitioning the Georgia Library Trustees, Friends and Advocates Association into an organization with a sharper focus on advocacy with the Division replacing the Advocacy Committee as GLA's primary advocacy group. In September of 2022 the membership of the Division approved a new Constitution and Bylaws to replace the previous Division Bylaws changing the name and the mission of the Division. The group became the Advocacy Division of the Georgia Library Association.

School Library Media Division

In 1923 a Children's and Young People's Division was formed - one of the earliest sections in the Association. From 1923 to 1947 there were numerous changes of the name of the division, and at times two sections--one designed specifically for schools. In 1947, the Children's and Young People's Library Division was organized to function through both the Georgia Education Association and the Georgia Library Association. This group was known as an affiliate of GEA and a section of GLA.

In 1960, the American Association of School Libraries became a Department of the National Education Association in addition to continuing as a Division of the American Library Association. Following this lead, the Children's and Young People's Library Division drafted a new constitution in 1962 making the local group a department of GEA rather than an affiliate and continuing as a division of GLA.

In 1971, when the Georgia Education Association (GEA) and the Georgia Teachers and Education Association (GTEA) merged to form the Georgia Association of Educators, the Library Department of GEA became the Library Department of GAE and the Children's and Young People's Division of GLA became the School and Children's Library Division of GLA - two completely separate organizations. Purposes and functions are outlined in its constitution. In 1984, the division name was changed to the School Library Media Division, and in 2013, the name was changed to Georgia Association of School Librarians. In 2022 the name was changed back to School Library Media Division.

There is one section: the School Media:

Special Libraries and Information Services Division

Purpose and Organization

The Special Libraries Division of the Georgia Library Association was established to advance the interests of special libraries through professional contacts and to promote the improvement of existing special collections in the state. There are no formal requirements for membership in this division since dues are not collected. One may become a member either by attending the division meeting at the annual GLA Conference or simply by reporting one's name to the Administrative Services Coordinator.

The officers of the division consist of a Chairman and a Secretary-Treasurer. Their term of office is for one year and new officers are selected at each annual meeting of the Association. The Chairman is principally responsible for planning the division's program for the upcoming annual conference and for presiding at that meeting. The Chairman must also appoint a nominating committee, which shall be responsible for submitting a slate of new officers for approval by the membership at the annual meeting. The Secretary-Treasurer is responsible for recording the minutes of the annual meeting and for submitting a summary of those minutes to the Chair of the Records Committee.

The Secretary-Treasurer should also circulate an attendance sheet to collect the names and addresses of those present for inclusion in the division's records. A Secretary-Treasurer's report is rarely required since this section does not have dues. Both officers are responsible for keeping written records of all their activities during their term of office. These records are to be filed in the division's official notebooks. These notebooks shall be given to the new Chairman by the outgoing Chairman. The notebooks contain a detailed historical record of the division's activities from the date of its organization to the present. New officers should consult their note-books regarding any questions they might have about the operation of this section.

History

The first meeting of the Special Libraries Division was held on November 4, 1955, at the Bon Air Hotel in Augusta, during the regular biennial meeting of GLA. Mrs. Martha Jane Zachert acted as temporary Chairman and Mr. Dale Barker as temporary Secretary. The constitution of the Special Libraries Section was presented and adopted at the meeting together with the election of a Chairman and a Secretary-Treasurer for the coming biennium. In 1984 the name was changed to Special Libraries and Information Services Division. It has one section: The Correctional Library Service Section.

Interlibrary Loan Interest Group

The genesis of this group occurred when it was proposed by Barbara Rystrom during a panel discussion on Interlibrary Loan at a Joint Reference/College and University Section's program meeting of the 1979 Biennial Conference in Savannah. Petitions were gathered and presented to the Georgia Library Association's Executive Board, which recommended the creation of the Interlibrary Cooperation Round Table to the conference. This recommendation was unanimously approved.

The group, then known as the Interlibrary Cooperation Round Table met for the first time in Macon preceding the 1980 GLA Committee Members Workshop. Bylaws were approved and officers were elected. The group identified interlibrary loan workshops as a continuing responsibility, as well as interlibrary loan discussion meetings at biennial conferences. A list of current library cooperative activities in Georgia will be maintained; the first version was distributed at the organizational meeting.

Reference and Instructional Services Interest Group

The Reference and Instructional Services Interest Group resulted from the 1984 reorganization of the Georgia Library Association. Prior to the reorganization, it was known as the Reference Services Division.

The Reference Services Division was organized as a result of a petition bearing the required number of signatures of association members. The organizational meeting was held in the Alabama Room of the Sheraton Biltmore Hotel on October 1969, during the biennial conference of the association. Frances Muse, acting Chair, and a prime mover in the circulation of the petition, presided. Officers elected were: Carl Franklin, Chair, and Jane Hobson, Secretary. The petition for a Reference Services Division was initiated to fill the need for a section to sponsor programs and projects closely related to the work of reference librarians. While there were sections representing all other major areas of library work, reference librarians were not represented. The purpose of the Division, therefore, was to advance the informational, bibliographical and research services in all types of libraries and at all levels within the State of Georgia.

The Reference and Instructional Services Interest Group, in the 1990’s numbered over 200 members and served as a popular forum for the exchange of ideas. Before the emergence of solid Internet communication, reference, and research, RISIG contributed to libraries in Georgia through print mediums including a publication called BRIGHT IDEAS.

In 2019 the Reference and Instructional Services Interest Group and the Atlanta Area Bibliographic Instruction Group (AABIG) merged. AABIG previously functioned as a self-sustaining grass-roots conference that supported the professional development of bibliographic instruction librarians in the metro Atlanta area. The merger was established to expand the conference’s impact and ensure the continuity of its mission. The conference was renamed the Georgia Libraries Instruction, Teaching, & Reference (GLITR) conference.

In addition to the GLITR Conference, RISIG has historically sponsored a showcase or lightning talk session at the Georgia Library Conference. In 2022 the interest group began holding monthly virtual roundtables focusing on topics of interest to reference and instruction librarians.

Technical Services Interest Group

History

The Catalogers Division of the Georgia Library Association voted at its meeting in March 1947 to be organized as a regional group and to request affiliation with the ALA Division of Cataloging and Classification. On June 30, 1947 ALA accepted the group as its 17th regional group. At the 1957 meeting the group voted to follow the lead of ALA and broaden its scope to include librarians in the fields of acquisitions, serials and copying processes. Accordingly, its name was changed to Resources and Technical Services Division of GLA. It became part of the Interest Group Council as part of the 1984 GLA reorganization. On January 9, 1970, the Executive Board changed the name of the committee to the Awards Committee and gave it the added responsibility for handling the technical aspects for Honorary Membership. Through the years additional awards have been added to the list of awards presented by GLA.

For information about officers and membership of the Awards Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees.

Responsibilities include:

- establishing criteria for all GLA awards
- publicizing the awards
- receiving and reviewing nominations
- determining whether or not awards should be given and, if so, who will receive them.
- obtaining and preparing each plaque, the presentation check(s), and appropriate certificates for each respective award. The Chairperson, or someone designated by him/her, is responsible for the preparation of the citations, and the actual presentation of the awards.

Nominations may be made by any member of the Georgia Library Association, except members of the Awards Committee, and should be sent to the Chairperson of this committee. A notice shall be placed in Georgia Library Quarterly or sent out to all GLA members announcing the awards and seeking nominations within the year preceding the Annual Conference. Such notice shall specify the deadline for nominations, delineate the procedure for making nominations, and list the address of the Awards Committee Chairperson. Nominators may nominate only one person for each award during the year.
Awards will be presented each year during the annual conference. Each recipient of the Team Award will receive a plaque and a check for $100.00, to a maximum sum of $500. If a winning team consists of more than five members, each member will receive a plaque and a check for their equal portion of the $500.00 award. Should no qualified candidate be found for a specific award, the Committee may recommend that no award be given in that category for that year. Nominations proposed but not approved during a given year will not be automatically reconsidered the following year. Budget Committee

At the meeting of the GLA Executive Board on January 7, 1956, a motion was passed providing for the appointment of a Budget Committee. For information about officers and membership of the Budget Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees.

The Budget Committee has the responsibility of preparing the annual budgets of the Association and the investment of its funds. All budgets are presented to the Executive Board for approval.

Conference Committee

From 1988 until 2016, The Georgia Library Association participated in the Council of Media Organizations Conference. Beginning in 1990, The COMO Conference was the annual conference for GLA. The four organizations comprising COMO were: the Georgia Library Association (GLA), the Georgia Association for Instructional Technology (GAIT), the Georgia Library Media Association (GLMA), and the Georgia Educational Publishers Association (GEPA). Conference responsibilities were rotated among GLA, GAIT and GLMA. These responsibilities included: Overall Conference Chair, Registration, Program, and Exhibits.

The name of the conference changed in 2016 to Georgia Libraries Conference (GLC). GLC is the annual conference of the Georgia Library Association. Other host/partner organizations may join GLA making GLC a joint conference for participating organizations. For information about Georgia Libraries Conference co-host and partner agreements see the Conference Co-host and Partner Agreements section of this Handbook.

For information about officers and membership of the Conference Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees. Historical information and guidelines for the conference committee are located in Appendix 1 of the GLA Handbook.

Constitution and Bylaws Committee

The function of the Constitution and Bylaws Committee is to keep the Constitution abreast of the times. Suggestions from members are welcomed by the Chair. For information about officers and membership of the Constitution and Bylaws Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees.

The earliest record of a committee was in the period of 1941-44 with Miss Ella May Thornton as Chair. Work on the Constitution evidently continued under the chairmanship of Charles H. Stone from Mercer, who presented the Constitution and Bylaws at the Conference in Atlanta on April 22, 1949. To reflect changes in the organization of the Association, the Constitution and Bylaws were rewritten and approved at a special meeting in Atlanta on March 30, 1984.

The Georgia Student Media Festival Committee
The first Georgia Student Media Festival committee was organized in the fall of 1976 and was sponsored by the Georgia Association for Instructional Technology (GAIT). For many years the Georgia Library Media Association (GLMA) was also a sponsor. Currently the Georgia Student Media Festival is sponsored by GLA and GAIT in partnership with Georgia Public Broadcasting.

The purpose of the Georgia Student Media Festival is to stimulate student interest and involvement in all types of media production. This is accomplished by providing an opportunity for students to show their work to an interested audience, to have the work critiqued by a panel of expert judges, and to be stimulated by the work of other students.

K-12 festival activities progress through three successive levels: local, system, and state. Entries must be evaluated at each level and receive a superior rating in order to proceed to the next level. Private schools are responsible for contacting the public school system in their geographic area for information on system or state level judging. Home school students should check with local K-12 schools to find local school media festivals in which to participate.

For information about officers and membership of the Georgia Student Media Festival Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees.

Handbook Committee

The primary responsibility of the Handbook Committee is to keep the GLA Handbook updated on a continual basis. The GLA Handbook consists of the current GLA Constitution and Bylaws, descriptions of Executive Board members and duties, division bylaws, interest groups and standing committees. Additionally, the Handbook includes separate Appendices with selected Association historical information.

With each substantive change to a portion of the Handbook, a record of the change should be made at the end of the Handbook and a new version placed on the GLA website. Older versions of the Handbook should be retained for historical purposes; while it may not be necessary to archive permanently every minor revision of the Handbook, versions reflecting substantive changes should be retained. If the archive is able to house electronic documents, an electronic copy may be preserved. Otherwise, a physical copy should be printed and mailed to the archives or transferred to the archivist at the annual meeting.

For information about officers and membership of the Handbook Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees. The Handbook Committee Chair serves as a non-voting member of the Executive Board, attending Executive Board meetings for the purpose of ensuring changes to the Association are recorded in a timely and accurate manner in the Handbook.

History

A Handbook Committee was created in 1967 to collect all available information about the Georgia Library Association’s history, purpose, organization, and functions to be put in one book. At that time, a copy was given to all Executive Board members, Round Table Chairs, and certain committees, with the understanding that the Handbook would be passed along to each successor for the succeeding year. In 1985 a loose-leaf edition of the Handbook was distributed to each member of the Association. In 1989 the Handbook was transferred to computer disks, and eventually into a set of WordPerfect files. In the 1991-93 biennium the Handbook became available in several formats: print, computer disk, and online through the Georgia College EDUNET service. GLA officers received printed copies, and print or disk copies could be purchased by others for a nominal fee. In 1998 the Handbook was made accessible electronically on the Internet, via the GLA homepage, for all GLA members and the public. After that time, print copies were no longer distributed.

Note: The Handbook Committee assumed the duties of the Conference Manual Committee in 1971 and the Directory Committee in 1984. In 2002 the Executive Board voted to eliminate the Directory of Libraries, which had been maintained by the Handbook Committee in favor of links on the GLA homepage to online lists of Georgia libraries.

Marketing and Branding Committee

The mission of the Marketing and Branding Committee of the Georgia Library Association is to promote the Association and GLA events; to manage the marketing and branding of the Association; and to manage GLA’s website and social media platforms.

The Marketing and Branding Committee has existed under various names since the latter 1940s. Until the advent of National Library Week in the latter 1950s, the Publicity Committee primarily disseminated information about GLA and the Association’s Annual Conference to Association members. In 1970, the Committee broadened its mission to include publicity of all state library activities. On January 3, 1979, the Executive Board formally chartered the Publicity Committee to “embrace National Library Week, Book Week, the Annual Conference, and in general support the work of the Association.” In March 1984, the Publicity Committee was renamed the Public Relations Committee, and its mission was further expanded to include promotion of state library activities to audiences beyond the Association membership.

In December 2016, the Public Relations Committee was renamed the Marketing and Branding Committee to reflect the expansion of the Committee’s mission to include the GLA website and social media platforms, as well as the Committee’s return to emphasis on marketing the Association and its events. The Marketing and Branding Committee sets standards for social media, listservs, and digital communications for the Association and its committees, divisions, interest groups, and roundtables. The Committee no longer provides promotional support for all state library activities, nor public relations support to member institutions.

In December 2017, the Executive Board approved three new documents by the Marketing and Branding Committee: a Public Relations Communication Policy; a Marketing and Branding Communication, Website, and Social Media Style Guide; and a Georgia Library Association Brand Identity & Usage guide. See the Handbook Appendices for these documents.

For information about officers and membership of the Marketing and Branding Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Articles IV and V. memberships and encourage renewal of memberships of all librarians, active and retired; library staff; library/media graduate students; and library trustees, friends, and advocates.

For information about officers and membership of the Membership Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees. In selecting members for this committee, an effort should be made to include members from different types of libraries and from various parts of the state in order for the Committee to have a better connection with potential GLA members.

Nominations and Elections Committee

The name of the committee changed from the Nominating Committee to the Nominating and Elections Committee in 2017. The name was changed to the Nominations & Elections Committee in 2020. This Committee prepares a slate of officers for presentation to the membership. (See Bylaws, Article II, Section 1, for the procedure.)

For information about officers and membership of the Nominations & Elections Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees.

Records Committee

In 1970 a committee was established to assemble all records of the Georgia Library Association in a workable order. These archival records are currently held in Archives and Special Collections of the Odum Library at Valdosta State University.

Preliminary work was done by the Chair, Miss Sarah Jones, assisted by Miss Virginia McJenkin, the Executive Secretary, Mrs. Ann Cobb and the President. The Executive Board recommended that the Committee be continued in order to keep the records up-to-date.

For information about officers and membership of the Records Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees. The Secretary of the Executive Board is responsible for collecting the current records at the end of the year from the Executive Board and forwarding them to the Archivist.

The Committee's functions are:

1. To receive, sort and prepare the records of the Georgia Library Association. These include Division, Interest Group and Committee files.
2. To keep copies of all conference programs; Georgia Library Quarterly; Executive Board minutes; Treasurer's records; and other official records.
3. To forward the records to the official archives.

Scholarship Committee

The purpose of the Scholarship Committee is to administer the Scholarship Program of the Association. For information about officers and membership of the Scholarship Committee see the GLA Bylaws. Article V. Committees.

The primary functions of the Committee are:
- To create or revise requirements for awarding any scholarship granted by the Association.
- To publicize the Scholarship Program.
- To answer all requests for information.
- To judge the applications and award the scholarship(s).
- To assure that the conditions of the award are adhered to by the recipients.
- To solicit additional funds for the Hubbard and Beard Scholarships (for example, by running a prize raffle at the annual GLC conference) and to encourage the establishment of additional scholarship grants.
- To acknowledge scholarship donors who have contributed $50.00 or more during a calendar year.
- To request the disbursement of funds to scholarship winners.

The administration of the Hubbard and Beard Scholarships is the primary concern of the Scholarship Committee. Each year many applications are received and selecting the best applicant is a high priority. The chairperson has been responsible for answering requests for information and for distribution of application forms. Up-to-date information has been submitted for incorporation in publications or websites such as The Annual Register of Grant Support, which lists financial aid for library school students. Announcements have been placed in professional journals such as Georgia Library Quarterly and sent to regional listservs.

C. S. Hubbard Scholarship

The origins of the Hubbard fund are obscure. The Georgia Libraries News Bulletin (v. 17, no. 2, December, 1962, p.5) states it was created in 1960 to honor C. S. Hubbard, for many years Director of the Division of Instructional Materials and Library Services of the State Department of Education. The purpose of the scholarship is to recruit excellent librarians for Georgia and provide financial assistance toward completing a Master's Degree in Library Science.

Currently the committee awards one $3,000 scholarship per year.

Charles E. Beard Scholarship

The Beard Scholarship of the Georgia Library Association is made possible by friends and colleagues of the late Charles Edward Beard who served libraries and the library profession for almost 40 years with distinction and dedication. The purpose of this scholarship is to provide financial assistance toward completing a Master’s degree in library science for candidates who show strong potential to inspire and motivate their peers in the profession and in professional associations.

Currently the committee awards one $1,500 scholarship per year.

Information regarding applications and regulations may be obtained from the Chairman of the Scholarship Committee or the Administrative Services Coordinator.

Qualifications for the Hubbard Scholarship

The Scholarship recipient must:
- Be completing the senior year in an accredited college or university or be a graduate of such an institution.
- Be accepted as a student in a master's degree program or higher level at a library school accredited by the American Library Association.
- Be ready to begin a program of study not later than the Fall term of the year in which the scholarship is awarded.
- Indicate an intention to complete degree requirements within three years.
- Maintain a passing grade average throughout the program
- Agree to work for one year following graduation from library school in a library-related capacity in Georgia or agree to pay back a prorated amount of the Award plus interest at the existing rate for federal Guaranteed Student Loans at the time repayment commences. Repayment must be made within a two-year period. The GLA Treasurer, Administrative Services Coordinator, and Scholarship Chair will assume responsibility for collecting this repayment.

Past recipients are listed in the Handbook appendices.
