MINUTES

Discussion

Chair Shelley Rogers called the meeting to order at 1:30pm and opened the floor for discussion.

The discussion focused on issues with Alma. Among the issues discussed were the complexity of configuring Primo, particularly vendor records (Guy Frost), changing procedures and processes (Amy Parsons), and the need for more step-by-step training (Jim Rickerson).

Elaine Hardy suggested contacting PINES staff since they have experience developing shared system policies, procedures, and training. Other ideas presented were offering a technical service pre-conference training in conjunction with the 2018 Georgia Library Conference.

Shelley Rogers, TSIG Chair, encouraged the use of online resources such as GA2CAT@listserv.uga.edu, GA3CAT@listserv.uga.edu, and LibAnswers to help answer some of these issues and to help make these needs and issues known. (See GIL ListServs at https://sites.google.com/view/g3almatraining/support/listservs). Shelley Rogers also encouraged the group to press for this type training when we are asked for conference and workshop ideas.
